SmallWorld Web App Timeline

The Incremental Model is most suitable for this project because our team is focused on a quick delivery of the desired functionalities of the system. The functionalities can be produced in an incremental fashion, with the highest priority produced first. This will allow us to test out our different software modules after they are done, revise them, and move on to the next high priority item.